The inauguration of this building took place in 1897. Undoubtedly, this historic building holds substantial importance for Malaysia. It is shaped in the form of the English alphabet F. It has rightfully acquired the status of National Heritage in the year 2007. Along with the Indo- Islamic style of architecture, it is known for its famous clock tower which is 41m high. It is very similar to the Big Ben (The Great Bell of the Great Clock of Westminster) in London, United Kingdom. This building was previously known as Government Office when it was under the rule of the British. This is because it was used specifically for administrative and regulatory purposes. It also used to comprise of three important courts- the Federal Court of Malaysia, High Court of Malay and the Court of Appeals. AC Norman designed this building. He was a well-known British architect.

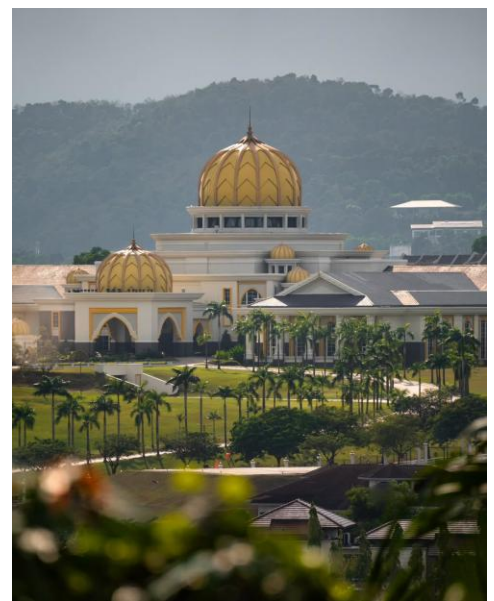

RIVER OF LIFE

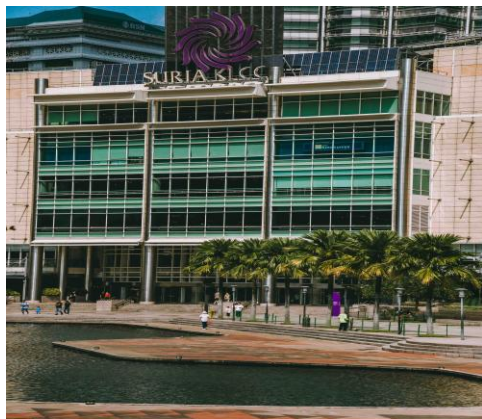

The River of Life in Kuala Lumpur is famous for its stunning transformation with glowing blue waters, dancing fountains, and light shows at night, turning the Klang & Gombak River confluence into a vibrant urban spectacle, known for its beautiful riverside promenades, historic colonial architecture, and being a top waterfront district

KING PALACE (ISTANA NEGARA)

Istana Negara, Malaysia's National Palace, is known for its symbolic mottos and Islamic inscriptions, particularly "Bersekutu Bertambah Mutu" (Unity is Strength), its official motto, and Quranic verses like "Ali-Imran:26" (O Allah, You give power to whom You wish...), emphasizing divine sovereignty, with its architecture blending Malay and Islamic styles, symbolizing Malaysia's monarchy and faith.

Suria KLCC is the most iconic premier shopping destination in Malaysia. A world-class complex of over 1.17 million square feet, it is the place to go for the best shopping, dining and entertainment experience. With more than 300 specialty stores, Suria KLCC offers an exclusive blend of renowned international fashion brands, flagship stores, unique concept stores and more. From the hottest global fashion trends to the latest high-tech home gadgets, you can find it all here under one roof. Take a breather after shopping to relax and catch up with family and friends at the multitude of cafes fronting a 50-acre park and a symphonic water fountain. Or tantalize your taste buds at a myriad of restaurants and 2 food courts offering local and international delights.

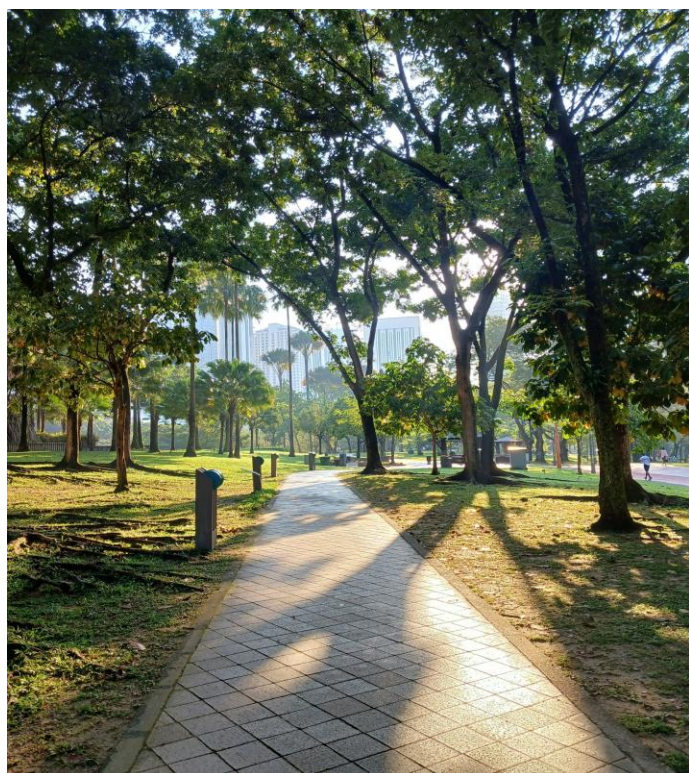

KLCC PARK

The KLCC Park is a metropolitan park located in Kuala Lumpur City Centre. Overlooking the Suria shopping complex and the Petronas Towers, the lush greenery of the urban park adds a natural flavour to the otherwise paved and cemented urban neighbourhood.

The park draws considerable attention from tourists and residents alike. The man-made lake, Lake Symphony, is probably the biggest attraction in the park. The contrast created both between the surrounding greenery of the park and the urban design and lush flora inside the garden is a wonder to behold.

The park also has a variety of functional features like a jogging track replete with resting benches, waterfalls, fountains, and a children's playground. The overall design of the park is unapologetically inclusive, and you can have a surreal experience at this park as it is loaded with greenery.

Kuala Lumpur's newest free night-time attraction, Saloma Bridge is located in KLCC and is an iconic structure that connects the historic Kampung Baru district with the newer skyscrapers and cityscape of 'modern' KL.

NATIONAL MOSQUE

The National Mosque of Malaysia (Masjid Negara), located in Kuala Lumpur, is a prominent 1965 landmark symbolizing independence, unity, and modern Islamic architecture. Designed with a 73-meter minaret and a unique 18-pointed star concrete roof resembling an open umbrella, it accommodates 15,000 worshippers within a 13-acre complex.

Batu Caves is a renowned 400-million-year-old limestone hill in Gombak, Selangor, Malaysia, featuring a 100-year-old Hindu temple complex dedicated to Lord Murugan. It is famous for its 272 colorful steps, the world's tallest Lord Murugan statue (43m), and the annual Thaipusam festival. Located just outside Kuala Lumpur, it is a major, active, and vibrant pilgrimage site.

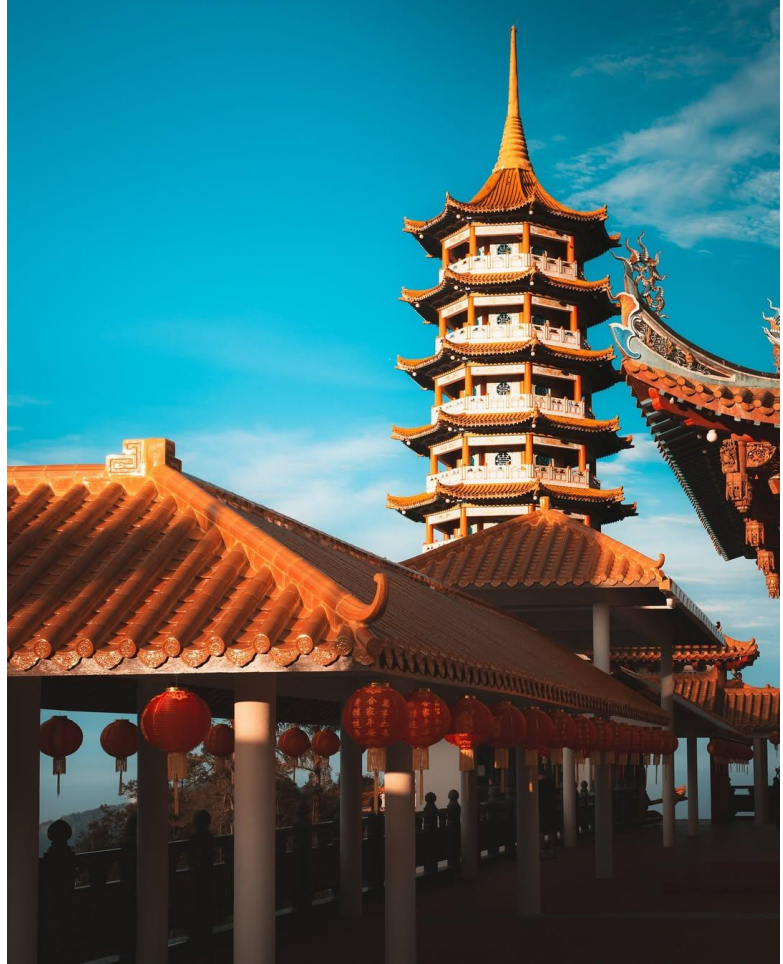

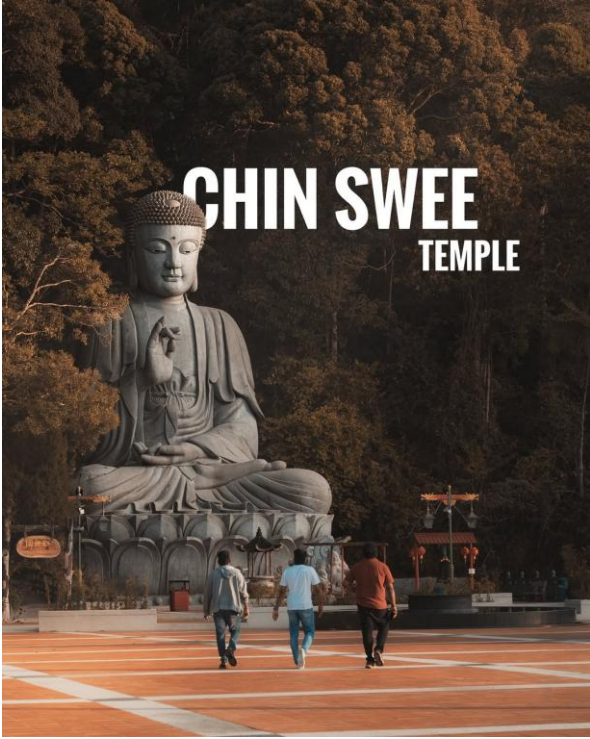

Situated at a height of 1800 metres on the peak of Mount Ulu Kali, Genting Highlands is a popular destination that promises a day full of fun, thrill and excitement.

This hill station is also renowned for its exciting theme parks which are one of a kind. Two of the most popular theme parks are the Genting Skyworlds and Skytropolis which offer a wide range of thrilling rides. Additionally, there is a mini snow City which is entirely covered with snow and offers a temperature of -6 degrees Celsius.

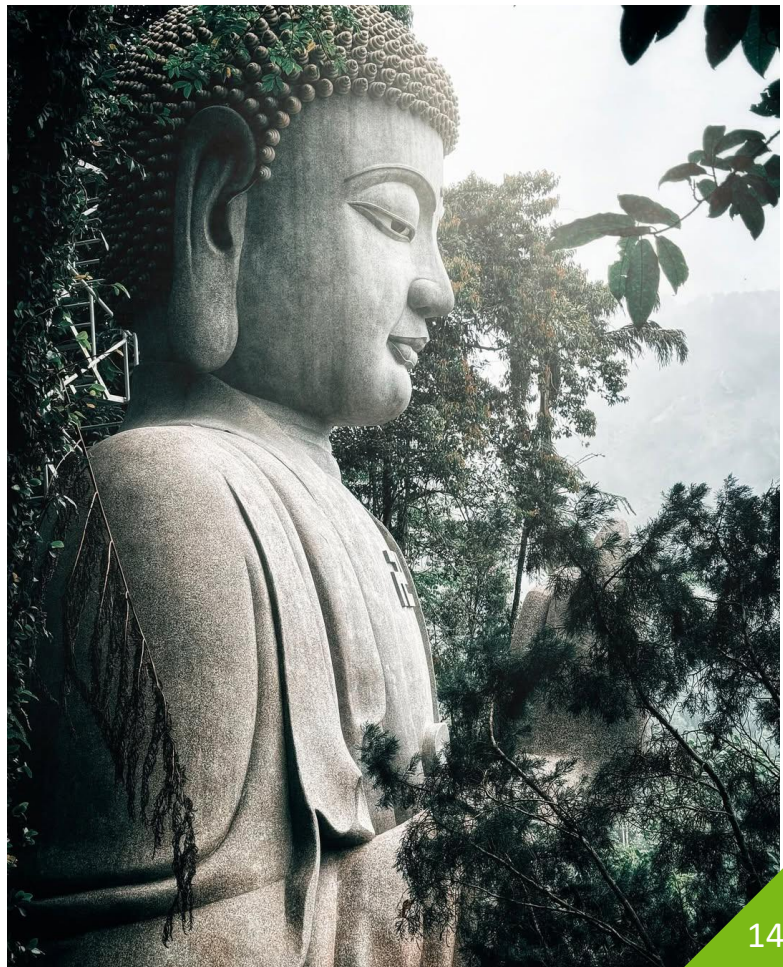

The Genting Skyway and Awana Skyway are premier cable car systems in Malaysia, offering a scenic 10 - 15 minute, 3.38 km+ journey from Gohtong Jaya/Awana Station to Resorts World Genting. Operating since 1997, it is one of Southeast Asia's fastest and longest systems, providing 360-degree views of 130-million-year-old rainforests.

It is a Buddhist temple which also venerates a Chinese Buddhist monk named Chin Swee who is usually depicted with a black face due to his miraculous survival from a fire with nothing more serious than soot blackened skin.

It is situated about 4,600 feet above sea level in the Genting Highlands just down the hill from Resorts World's casino, theme park and hotel complex.
